The Sitters

The following is a list of all named sitters who appear in portraits drawn by John Bacon Senior, John Bacon Junior, Augusta Maria Bacon, the Revds John and Thomas Bacon, and other artists whose drawings form part of the body of works considered in this thesis.

Where doubt remains as to the identity of a sitter, this is indicated in the entry. Entries are cross-referenced where necessary.

Where relevant, female sitters appear in cross-referenced entries under their maiden and married names.

Sitters in portraits that are known to have been executed, but that are currently untraced, are included in this list.

Entries include the catalogue numbers (i.e., 'N123') for each identified portrait of the sitter. These can be cross-referenced with Appendix Three.

Entries have been compiled from diverse sources, many online, including newspapers and privately compiled histories, of which only the principal examples are given here.

Appendix Three

The Drawings

Names

As far as possible, the titles of works are the names of each sitter at the time they were drawn, with female sitters identified by their maiden names as appropriate. These names are matched to those given in Appendix Two, where the names of female sitters are cross-referenced.

Where doubt remains over the identity of a sitter, the title is given as found in identifying inscriptions, including as in the indexes to Albums One and Two. These names are cross-referenced in Appendix One (i.e., 'Nancy, Aunt' and 'Bacon, Ann').

Location

Drawings are arranged in the first instance by albums, one to six, thereafter by public and private collections.

Dates

Dates in roman are standardised versions of those inscribed on the sheets. Dates in bold are those ascribed to the works on the basis of the available evidence. These include those that can be limited to a single year (i.e. '1847'), those for which there is less certainty (i.e. 'c. 1847'), or for which a date range is the only suitable option at this time (i.e. '1847-1859').

Media

All references to 'coloured pencil' should be read as either coloured pencil or chalk (see Chapter One). A question mark indicates that the presence of a particular medium is yet to be confirmed.

Inscriptions

Inscriptions have been included where these are pertinent. The location of each inscription on the sheet is indicated (i.e., 'LR' = lower right, 'CL' = centre left, 'LC' = lower centre, etc).

Of the inscriptions in the indices of Albums One and Two, only those in the hand of John Bacon Junior have been transcribed.

Miscellaneous

Doubt concerning an attribution, identification or other detail is represented by '[?]'.

Missing or unavailable information is represented by a blank cell.

The landscape drawings found in Album Six are not included in this catalogue.

The works listed include a number by artists with whom the Bacon family was associated and which, by virtue of their subjects, or place among the assembled drawings, are considered here as part of the family's portrait tradition.

Bacon's inscription identifying this work as his own suggests that it shows his eldest son, the Revd John Bacon as a child. However, the portrait is consistent with work from early in Bacon's career; while the child's appearance suggests a sitter from the late eighteenth century. An early self-portrait seems unlikely, but cannot be excluded. Perhaps a portrait of one of his younger half-brothers. Verso, a partial drawing of a soldier in
