Addressee

Dear Addressee

Thank you for granting me the permission to conduct my research, entitled 'Understanding the Influence of Home Placement on Children's Experience and Perspectives in Mainstream Schools', at the Addressee Children's Home. As was mentioned in my thesis proposal and our meetings, the research is part of the requirement for the Doctor of Education Programme which I am doing with the University of Durham, UK.

The data collection of the research will be done in three phases. The first, being collection of data concerning children's profile, will commence on 10 February. It should not take more than a month's time to complete. The second phase has to do with interviewing children and is to be carried out during the second term of school. The schedule of the final phase is not certain yet as the questionnaire survey is to be formulated after the analysis of the interviews.

Should you have any doubt or query regarding the research, please feel free to let me know. I can be contacted at 62517230 and 93542270. Your support and assistance are very much appreciated.

Best wishes,

Celeste Yee

Children's Consent Form

Celeste is a student who is doing a project for her university. The project is about your experiences in schools and what you think of them. She hopes that by talking to you, she will learn about the things that will help children like yourself enjoy school more.

The way that she is going to find out from you what children think about school is to have you answer her questions about your school's life. There is no right and wrong answer. You just have to say what you want to say. If you agree, you will be doing it together with a friend. It will be for about an hour.

The talk will be recorded in a tape but no one could listen to it except Celeste herself. The things that you say to her will not be told to another person. When she writes her reports, your name will not be mentioned. These are the rules that she has to keep.

It is your decision whether to talk to her. If you are not sure, you can make your decision later. If you have made a decision, please put a tick in the box that says your decision. Don't forget to write your name and date too.

Contact Summary (1)

Time:

May 18, 2004, semester exam had just ended a week ago. I reached the Home at about 3.30 pm.

Location:

A temporary conference room was made available for the interviews. The Home was undergoing major re-construction and a few buildings had been pulled down. Construction work was in process during the interviews. Fortunately, it was an air-conditioned room and noise level was low. There was no table in the room and my notebook had to be placed on one of the folding chairs.

Interviewees:

Name: Jack (pseudo name)

Gender: Male

Class: Primary Two

Race: Indian

No. of PLT: One

Date of PLT: 3 Jul 96

Reason of PLT: Single Parent (Cr)

Sibling: Brother in Primary 4

Class: Primary Two

Race: Chinese

No. of PLT: One

Date of PLT: 2 Dec 96

Reason of PLT: Single Parent (C)

Sibling: Brother in Primary 3

Starting the interview:

After a short conversation with the Executive Director, Social worker Penny took me to the children's study area. Although exam was over, they still had their usual study hours, which was from 2-4 pm. The boys were asked to go with me to the conference room without being told why and who I was. Soon, the rest of the children would be released for their tea break. After tea, they were going to have their playtime in a public playground.

The boys watched while I set up the place as there were no tables except for some folding chairs. I placed the notebook on a chair near the electrical socket and lined up three others for us to sit. Below is a diagram of the context.

When everything was ready, I introduced myself to the boys and explained the purpose and procedure of the interviews according to the documents prepared for the occasion. They agreed to be interviewed and signed the consent form. Sam actually wanted to be interviewed alone but Jack said that he preferred to do it with a friend. Hearing what Jack had said, Sam decided to go along with his friend's decision.

Before the interview started, a picture of school on the notebook attracted Sam and Jack's attention. When the mike was passed to them, they got interested in the mike and Jack started talking and singing into the mike. They also tried to decide how to use the mike.

Ending the Interview:

The interview lasted about 50 minutes. When the interviewees got restless with the series of questions, a break was given. They enjoyed being in the air-conditioned room and did not mind skipping tea break. After the interview, they tried their hands on the notebook and played some games. A small token was given to them before they left to join other children in the playground.

Reflection:

Being the first interview I had ever conducted, there were many flaws in this interview. The interviewees, especially Jack, did not appear to be intimidated by the interview process. There were times when I was rather disturbed by his playfulness and did not know how to connect with both of them. While trying not to assume an authoritative role, I must admit that my unhappiness was inadvertently exposed when confronted by his mischief. The worry of having the situation out of control did prevent probing at certain points. However, judging from the candid responses, the interviewees did not seem to be greatly affected.

Starting the Interview:

The Interviewer stayed in the room until the outdoor is over. I was told that the girls would be coming in after 5.30 pm. Cheryl came in at 5.35 pm. She was very friendly. She asked about the reason for being called into the room, was interested by the fact that my university was in UK and told the interviewer about the Home's routine. Rachel came in 10 minutes later, appeared to be very quiet. The interviewer explained the purpose and process of the interviewer and the girls signed the consent form.

PS. Routine of the Home: back from school, lunch, extra-lesson, tea break, outdoor play, wash-up, dinner, praise session, take medicine and more study hours.

Ending the Interviews:

The interview took about 20 minutes. After which, Rachel played some games on the computer (she seemed to be familiar with the games), whereas Cheryl was more interested in listening to the recording. I gave them a small token to thank them for their participation. They left about 7 minutes later.

Reflection:

The girls were better behaved as compared to the boys earlier. They were very well behaved in the first half and were wilder in the second. Perhaps it was because they were feeling more relaxed. At one point, Rachel even stood on the chair with the mike in her hand. Although they were playful at times, they took the interview seriously and answered all the questions. They seemed to like having to talk into the mike. It probably made them feel very special.

Starting the interview:

I waited for about 20 minutes in the conference room for the girls to come in. When the children were going to the canteen for their tea break, I went to check if the girls were told about the interview. Apparently, the Director had forgotten to inform them. I gave the girls' names to the staff-in-charge and asked to see them after tea.

Terry came in right after the tea break and started asking why she needed to come in. Mary came in looking rather unhappy and wanted to know how long it would take. While other children were moving to the outdoor playground, she was certainly unhappy to be asked to stay back. I explained the reason for having them in the conference room and told them they could choose not stay for the interview. Terry agreed quickly as she didn't mind giving outdoor play a miss. Mary thought for a while and decided to sign the consent form.

When the children walked past the conference room, some tried to peep in. The girls were paranoid with the possibility of someone else overhearing what they said. I assured them that people outside could not hear or see them. Yet, Terry continued to fuss over the matter. When asked if she wanted to get it done quickly in order to go to the playground, she said no. As for Mary, she kept urging us to start and get it done as soon as possible.

Ending the Interview:

Mary left shortly after the interview as it lasted less than half an hour and there was a chance that she might still find the other children at the playground. Terry stayed for a while to explore with the notebook.

Reflection:

I should have postponed the interview as Mary was very unhappy having to miss outdoor play. Thus, she was impatient in the second half of the interview or when Terry was taking a longer time to answer a question. However, she did her part adequately. Terry was more restless though she would rather stay for the interview. She moved about a lot and was rather disruptive. As both had different time frame and perhaps expectation for the interview, the pair was difficult to manage. Apparently, rapport was not built and the interviewing process was likely to be less enjoyable to them than to the earlier pairs.

When the interview was transcribed, I realized that the girls were not at all intimidated by the interviewing process or me. Perhaps this was the reason for their uncanny behaviour and remarks. The incident whereby Terry dropped the recorder allowed me a glimpse of their response towards having their misbehaviour recorded. Although it was a misunderstanding, their actions told me that they were free to say and do anything for the fact that confidentiality was assured them.

Contact Summary (4)

Time:

May 20, 2004, first semester exam had just ended a week ago. The boys came around 5.00 pm, in the middle of outdoor play.

Location:

Starting the interview:

The two boys came in apologizing. They told me that the Executive Director had sent for them but they were not aware of it. Instead they went to the playground. However, once they were told to come to the conference room, they came immediately. The outdoor play was not over yet. After the experience with the girls earlier, I realized that having someone in authority to send for them could make my work easier. There wasn't a sign of unhappiness from the boys. They were very cooperative. After hearing my explanation of the interview purpose and procedure, they willingly signed the consent form.

Ending the Interview:

Benny was very interested in the notebook. He played some games on it. Willie was less well verse with computer games. The Interview lasted about 20 minutes. The boys stayed for almost half an hour. When I was ready to pack and leave, Willie took the initiative to help pack and carry the notebook.

Reflection:

The boys were very cooperative and well behaved. In fact, Willie liked to be asked and shared his thoughts.

Contact Summary (5)

Time:

May 21, 2004, first semester examination ended more than a week ago. It was a Friday, most of the children had gone home. The only pair that I could interview was the two P6 boys. I arrived during their outdoor play and so waited for them to come back.

Location:

A temporary conference room was made available for the interviews. The Home was undergoing major re-construction and a few buildings had been pulled down. Construction work was in process during the interviews. Fortunately, it was an air-conditioned room and noise level was low. There was no table in the room and my notebook had to be placed on one of the folding chairs.

Starting the interview:

When I arrived at the office, Alan was sitting outside by himself. Most of the children had gone home and the others were at the playground. The social worker coaxed him to go join the children but he refused. I decided to go to the conference room to set up while waiting for the other boy to come back from the playground. He followed me. Alan, though P6, did not seem to care about his appearance. He looked unkempt and his hands had marker doodles. When he sneezed, he used his hand to wipe. However, when I offered him a tissue paper, he displayed good manner.

Steve came running in after outdoor play. He seemed bubbly. Though interested in the notebook, he agreed to explore it only after the interview. I remembered meeting him on the first day of my visit to the Home. He was asked by the Executive Director to walk her to the bus stop. He was quiet then but enjoyed taking a walk out of the Home. After they were told the purpose and procedure of the interview, both boys signed the consent form.

Ending the Interview:

The boys stayed back to play some games on the notebook. Alan used the paintbrush software to create a card for me. He seemed to be knowledgeable with the computer software. They played for about 15 minutes and Alan decided to leave. He left before Steve.

Reflection:

The P6 boys seem to be more matured and less active. On the other hand, they were also less expressive. The answers given were often short.

Starting the interview:

While waiting for the key to open the door of the conference room, Leslie thanked me for taking them out of the study room. He thought the study time was boring and unnecessary since examination was over. The other boy was a brother of a younger interviewee whom I interviewed on the first day.

Ending the Interview:

The interview lasted about 30 minutes. After that, the boys wanted to listen to the recording. I asked Leslie about his kidney problem and found out that he was admitted early this year. Although he sounded cheerful, I somehow felt that he was only trying to put up a brave front. Rick played on the computer. They left a few minutes later as the next pair was coming in for the interview.

Reflection:

Both boys were in the same class. They were chatty and enjoyed talking about the pranks they did in class. Rick certainly had no qualm about disclosing his mischievous behaviour. In order not to assume an authoritative role, I did not give them a lecture on the right things to do.

Rick's speech was often unclear. He seemed to have used Mandarin and dialect here and there. Both had been very cooperative and the interview was basically a pleasant experience for all three of us.

Contact Summary (7)

Time:

May 24, 2004, it was the last week of first semester; children could look forward to a 4-week's break. The interview began at 4 pm, right after I had interviewed two P3 boys.

Location:

A temporary conference room was made available for the interviews. The Home was undergoing major re-construction and a few buildings had been pulled down. Construction work was in process during the interviews. Fortunately, it was an air-conditioned room and noise level was low. There was no table in the room and my notebook had to be placed on one of the folding chairs.

Interviewees:

Starting the interview:

Monica came into the room, saw the two boys. She looked apprehensive as to what this was all about but the boys told her that it was quite fun. Mandy came in shortly. She too looked apprehensive as to what was going to take place. After my explanation of the interview purpose and process, they remained rather anxious but decided to give it a try. Both signed the consent forms.

Monica was attracted to the notebook and started playing games. She played a card game that even I did not know how to play. When testing the recorder, I noticed the batteries were flat and the spare ones could not be used. I had to ask the girls to wait while I went to the office to get fresh batteries from the staff.

Ending the Interview:

After the interview, the girls listened to the recording. Monica played some games on the notebook, whereas Mandy asked to have her voice recorded again. When told that she could say anything to the recorder, she insisted to be interviewed instead. It was during this interview that I noticed her speech problem.

Reflection:

Apparently, the interviewees were not offering a lot of information as compare to their peers (the P3 boys). Most of the time, Mandy's response was either 'I don't know' or 'nothing'. It was after the second interview that I could be certain that she was not trying to withhold information or to be difficult.

A single interview might be a better idea for these girls as Mandy often interrupted Monica when she gave her answers. However, I was impressed by Monica's patience with Mandy as she was not a bit annoyed by the interruptions.

Time:

May 24, 2004, it was the last week of first semester. The children could look forward to a long break. I came in the evening as one of them was in the afternoon session. The interview started at 8.40 pm.

Location:

The interview took place in the office's reception hall. It was at the entrance to the office. Besides furnished with sofa set and television, it was also stuffed with many things, which were likely to be donated items. It was air-conditioned and had a curtain that could close up the area.

Starting the interview:

I arrived at the Home at about 7.50 pm. I was told that their Bible lesson should end around this time. When I was there, there were a number of people waiting outside the room. Most of them were volunteer tutors. It was also my first time meeting some of the housemothers. They were mainly from other countries such as Myanmar and Philippines.

The Bible lesson was longer than expected. After waiting for 20 minutes, I decided to ask if the children could be excused from the lesson so that I could interview them. The housemother agreed and got the children out. We went to the conference room but it was locked. Nobody had the key besides the Executive Director but he was not there. Finally, I decided to interview the children in the reception hall.

Shortly after we had settled down at the reception hall, the other children were released from the Bible lesson. Many had to go to the office for their medication before bedtime. Those who were done with the medication hung around at the reception hall and the situation was rather chaotic.

Anyway, I set up the notebook and explained to the girls the purpose and procedure of the interview. After they had signed the consent form, I noticed most of the children were done with their medication and so I told the housemothers that I needed to close the glass door for about 30 minutes in order to have a quiet environment for the interview. They agreed and the interview started at 8.40 pm

Ending the Interview:

The frequent interruptions had prolonged the interview to more than half an hour. The girls liked to listen to their own voices and sat for almost half an hour playing back the recorder. They talked about having to pack their cupboards that night. While both were rather new in the Home, they were still struggling to adjust to their lives there.

Reflection:

The environment was at odd with the interview. Besides intrusion and disturbance from the other children, there was also constant piling noise at the construction site next to the Home.

JENNY seemed to give quite a number of 'I don't know' replies. Perhaps, she did not fully understand the questions. JAZREEL showed a greater interest in sharing her feelings. I recalled seeing her at the bus stop when she was walking back to the Home. She was then walking slowly and I was 50 meters ahead of her. When we met in the office again, we greeted each other with a smile. Since it happened a few months back, she did not know that we had met before.

Time:

May 25, 2004, it was the last week of first semester. Children were looking forward to a long holidays. I decided to arrive earlier and conduct the interview during their study hours. The interview started at 2.40 pm.

Location:

A temporary conference room was made available for the interviews. The Home was undergoing major re-construction and a few buildings had been pulled down. Construction work was in process during the interviews. Fortunately, it was an air-conditioned room and noise level was low. ### Starting the interview:

When Angel came into the room, she told me she needed to go swimming later with other children. So, I promised her it would take not more than half an hour. As a result, there was little time for warming up. Nonetheless, this was the only group that took the pain of reading the consent form word by word before signing.

P.S. the tape was not rewind to the beginning. The first part was a pilot test.

Ending the Interview:

After the interview, the girls listened to the tape for a while. I praised Serena for her command of English. Serena talked about the switch from EM2 to EM3 partly because of family problems. The girls did not stay long as Angel had to go for the swim. Serena went to look for the other two boys whom I wanted to interview.

Reflection:

This group was not distracted by the notebook and mike at all. Serena was very articulate. She missed her last examination due to a family crisis and was promoted to EM3 rather than EM2. Angel was soft-spoken and did not say much. However, she too had tried to answer all the questions posed to her.

Interview Transcript (10)

Time:

May 25, 2004, this is the last week of first semester. This is the second interview of the day and it started at around at 3.30 pm.

Location:

A temporary conference room is made available for the interviews. The Home is undergoing major re-construction work. A few building have been pulled down. Construction work is in process and so the environment is rather noisy outside. The room is air-conditioned. There is no table and the interviewer's notebook has to be placed on one of the folding chairs.

Interviewees:

Name: Jacintha (pseudo name)
Gender: Female
Class: Primary Five
Race: Chinese
No. of PLT: One
Date of PLT: 20 Jan 02
Reason of PLT: Single Parent (B)
Sibling: Brother in Primary 3
School: SGSS
No. of Transfer: One (Primary 4)
Results: 4-4-4-4
Conduct: Fair

Starting the interview:

Jacintha came to the interviewer the night before and volunteered to be interviewed. The interviewer asked if she would be willing to do it alone. She was hoping that she could do it with someone else, however, since the school holidays would be starting soon, the interviewer told her that she might not be able to arrange for a partner in such short time. She agreed and the appointment was made for today. This is an opportunity for the interviewer to compare single interview with what she has been doing so far.

Ending the Interview:

Since the staff was looking for Jacintha, the interviewer decided not to hold her too long. The interview lasted about 15 minutes and Jacintha left almost right away after the interview.

Reflection:

As Jacintha has volunteered to be interviewed, she took the task seriously, giving as much information as possible. Having only one person to interview also helps the interviewee to be focus and not distracted. However, there is also less spontaneity and third-person's input.

Jacintha talked a lot about her anger problem.

Time:

May 27, 2004, it was the last week of school and the next day would be the last day of first semester. The interview started at about 3 pm.

Location:

A temporary conference room was made available for the interviews. The Home was undergoing major re-construction and a few buildings had been pulled down. Construction work was in process during the interviews. Fortunately, it was an air-conditioned room and noise level was low. This time, there was a table in the room but no chairs. Chairs had to be taken from the canteen, which was at the other end of the temporary building.

Starting the interview:

When I arrived, Wilson was photocopying in the office. After I've asked him to help me photocopy some documents, I went to the conference room to set up the notebook. It could not be started. When the boys came in, I told them about it and tried to fix the problem. During this time, the boys bowed down to pray. Unfortunately, nothing could be done and I decided to go ahead with the interview without using computer graphics because they would be heading home the next day when school holidays start. They agreed but were rather concern if I would be in trouble since they knew that the notebook was not mine.

Ending the Interview:

The whole interview lasted about only half an hour. Since the notebook was not working, the boys left shortly after the interview.

Reflection:

With a big table against the wall and the notebook down, there were less distractions but the atmosphere was also more formal. Besides playing with the mike and walking towards the storeroom, the boys were mostly cooperative and answered their questions as requested. Wilson took the lead and had somehow set the mode for Jareth's answers. Being an older student in his class, he also appeared to be more matured in his replies. It was until the end of the interview that Jareth provided some anecdotes of his behaviour in school.

Reflections of Questionnaire Survey

1st Visit (Monday, 19 September 2005, 4.15 to 5.45 pm)

I arrived at 3.30 pm and was told that I could use the counselling room for my survey. Children were going outings at around 5 pm. I could only survey the four P6s who had to stay behind because they failed their preliminary examination. Two other came before the outings. Those who stayed behind because of punishment for their misbehaviour were not able to come for the survey.

Code 001 When she was asked to follow me (who was standing at a distance away) by the staff to the counselling room, I could see her unhappiness as she stuffed her books into her bag (the study hour had just ended and most of the children were preparing for their outings). When she was walking with me to the counselling room, I asked if she knew why she was sent to me. She said it was for counselling. I clarified with her that I was not a counsellor but a student who had to conduct a survey in the Home. The moment she heard what I said, her face brightened up. In the room, I explained the purpose of my visit and asked for her name. It was then that I realised she was the voluntary respondent I had last year. When asked if she was willing to do the survey, she happily agreed.

It was a good beginning, as the string of people who came after her came with a more positive attitude (the token must have done some good too).

Code 002 An Indian girl. She looked nervous, afraid to make mistake.

Code 003 A former interviewee. She was comfortable with me and wanted to stay longer to enjoy the air-con.

Code 004 A boy and he was the first person who mentioned 'sometimes' for some of his answers. These answers were taken as negative.

Code 005 He waited at the door to come in. He was also carrying a bag, perhaps one of those who were going out. Apparently, he was in the care of foster parents and thus understood what guardian meant (Question 8). Explanation was required for other children as they tend to equate guardian with carers in the Home. Thus, the word was struck out later.

Code 006 A girl who behaved rather unruly. She was the first person who flipped the cards over to check what was behind. She wanted me to hear her read out all the words on the charts to make sure she knew the words before giving me the answers. At the end of the session, she took 4 tokens and spent about 10 minutes to decide which was the one she really wanted. She also wanted to take the snacks from the room but I stopped her, as they were not mine.

2nd Visit (Monday, 26 September 05, 4.20 to 7.30 pm)

I arrived at 3.25 pm and waited for a long time before the first child was sent to me. The process was slow as intervals were long. I noticed a group of youngsters there taking the children in various activities like watering the plants. The staffs were busy too. It was a time whereby many changes were taking place (new building, new director and the launching of new programmes).

Code 007 A former respondent. He refused to take the token.

Code 008 A quiet boy who did not have answers for the last three questions.

Code 009 A jovial girl who told me her results was top in class.

Code 010 A very quiet girl who looked like she had no friends in school as well as at the Home.

Code 011 A very eloquent respondent. She was also the first person who talked about getting a degree and coming back to the Home to help.

Code 012 A former respondent. She was impatient and rather unruly during the last interview. Before coming into the room, she had just been scolded and punished by the staff. When I walked past her room earlier on, I saw her weeping. Hence, I was worried that she was not going to cooperate with me this time. I was wrong. When I reminded her who I was, she happily consented to the survey and was totally cooperative throughout the session.

Code 013 A former respondent (sister of 006). She was the one who dropped my recorder during the last interview. This time round, she was much better behaved. Perhaps the previous encounter had helped to strengthen trust. She did not know how to answer Question 10 and 11 and I started using another approach for these questions. I asked if she had the 'power' to change anything of her school and Home, what would she change.

Code 014 A very nice boy.

Code 015 A former respondent who had grown quite a bit. I reminded him that he prayed for my laptop when it didn't work the last time. He laughed.

Code 016 A nice girl.

Code 017 The boy told me he was 13 and had two transfers (the 2nd was from Secondary School back to Primary 4 because of him being naughty). I noticed the discrepancy of his age while keying in the data and consulted a social worker. She told me that he had "pulled my leg" as he was in actual fact 2 years younger than what he claimed and had only 1 transfer.

My former respondents seemed happy to see me again even though many did not recognize me right away. I noticed they were also better behaved, perhaps now they considered me as an acquaintance. On the other hand, whenever possible, I would ask my respondents what they thought about this survey and their response were all positive.

3rd Visit (Monday, 3 October 05, 4.35 to 8.00 pm)

When I arrived at the Home at about 4 pm, there were two policemen around. The counselling room was later occupied by the police as they needed to speak to a number of children. I did not ask what happen but 017 was the first boy who was being called into the room. I decided to use another room for the survey and did it with the first girl. As the room had no table and chair, it was not as convenience. I decided to move back to the original room after the policemen had left.

Code 018 A former respondent. She was very quiet then, almost to the point of being uncooperative. However, this time round, she was happy to see me and willingly answered all my questions. When I asked her how she felt about the survey, she thought it was fun.

Code 019 He was pulled out in the middle of a monopoly game. He didn't want to leave at first as he was "winning a lot of money". When the staff called his name, he came with me and I apologized to him. He remained in good spirit and attitude.

Code 020 I asked if it was stressful having to answer the questions, she said no and thought that it was fun.

Code 021 I had mistaken him for being a girl because of his voice. He was born in Cambodia, grew up in Vietnam and came to Singapore 5 to 6 years ago. He had not been to school until this year (P4). He had a difficult time getting along with classmates as they had been calling him gay (perhaps because of his voice and mannerism). He had also a bad impression of his teachers. At the end of the session, I felt compelled to encourage him and provide him with a little advice. I told him to speak in a lower voice which would probably make him sound more like a boy.

Code 022 The girl took time to think through the questions and her answers. Her school is rather far away (in my opinion) and she has to travel on two buses to get there.

Code 023 A former respondent who liked this survey better than the last one. Interestingly she did not pick 'I will learn to take care of myself when I grow up' for question 9 since her answer during the interview was one of the reason why this statement was there.

Code 024 A former respondent but did not remember anything about the last interview.

Code 025 A very sweet Indian boy, who was very positive about everything.

Code 026 She responded to most of the things I said with a "yes" but picked very few answers from the charts. I thought she was either restricted by her ability to read or misunderstood my instructions. I read the items for her and encouraged her to pick as many as she wanted.

Code 027 A former respondent and another very positive Indian boy. He remembered me. An interesting discovery was that he seemed to prefer quietness, a contradiction to my impression of him last year for being rather active. At the end of the session, he asked me to come again the next day to take him for another survey.

As I was moving down to lower Primary children, I noticed the questionnaire was also becoming more challenging. With the P3 children, more help is needed in reading the words on the charts and explaining the questions. Fortunately, there were only 12 questions instead of the earlier plan of having 20.

I was also told that 2 P4 children on my list have left the Home recently.

4th Visit (Monday, 5 October 05, 5.50 to 8.10 pm)

I arrived at 4.15 pm. When I was walking into the compound, the children were walking out. They were on their way to a nearby park for games. Besides the staff, a western man was with them. When I met Nancy, she was holding a basketball and told me that they would come back at 5.30 pm. I told her that I would wait for them to come back.

While waiting, I had a short moment with the two social workers. I raised the question about 017 but noticed that they were not able to tell me what had happened on Monday. However, the other social worker encouraged me to confront him for lying about his age and number of transfer. I thought he was serious about what he said since he repeated it a few times. The conclusion was he could have been imagining it. I also shared my concern about 021 and actually broke confidentiality by exposing how his classmates had teased him. I informed them about the advice I had given him and assured them that this was an exception from my usual practice.

When the children were back, they were told to return to their dormitory to bathe. I waited for another 20 minutes when I got hold of a P3 girl to begin my survey.

Code 028 A rather quiet girl who appeared to be tensed. I read most of the cards for her. When I asked if she liked what we had just done, she nodded.

Code 029 A rather active girl who asked me a number of questions, such as why you come and where you were born.

Code 030 A former respondent with a very sweet personality. She enjoyed the process.

Code 031 He was brought to the room by 030. 030 wanted to stay behind with him and he agreed. He appeared to be a Malay, which is uncommon in this Home. As requested, 030 sat beside him throughout the session keeping mum about the answers. However, he did look to her for help. He also looked anxious to get done with the survey. I suspected that it was the token that he was looking forward to.

Code 032 A very active Indian boy who either stood or moved around in the room.

Code 033 When I thought the last three questions, especially Question 10 and 12, might have been too difficult for the younger children to cope, this boy surprised me by his ability to read most of the words and give fitting answers to the more challenging questions.

Code 034 Same as 033, if not better, he was able to handle all the questions at ease.

Whether some of the questions are beyond the younger children are not a problem. It is more to do with their age but with their level of understanding and ability to read.

5th Visit (Monday, 10 October 05, 4.05 to 5.15 pm)

I arrived slightly before 4 pm. While the staff were having a meeting, I got the key and went into the room to set up. Then I went to the dining hall and approached a boy whom I had not met before. He was the P3 boy who had chicken pox last week. Since he was playing, I invited him to go to the room with me.

Code 035 He was rather active and seemed unable to read some of the words. I decided to read for him. It was also my first time having confused with the sequence (skipped question 5 & 6 and went on to question 7, but came back to them later).

Code 036 When he came in, he was still eating his tea break snacks. After which, he did not touch the charts at all. Later I found out that it was because his fingers were oily. Throughout the survey, he had been sucking his thumbs.

Code 037 A boy who could read all the words and needed minimal explanations. His brother is down with chicken pox, resting at home.

Code 038 A girl who tried to explain almost all her answers. She was new at the Home and said she had no friends in school. While the other children were at the park, she couldn't go.

I completed all four rather quickly as no time was wasted on waiting. Each took 15 to 20 minutes. Judging from the fact that the P1s had no problem dealing with the questions, especially 037, the questionnaire should not be deemed as difficult. Reading and explanations were requested from children of all levels, depending on their ability to read and comprehend.

I had stayed back to wait for two P2 children who had gone for a medical appointment (obesity). After waiting for 45 minutes, a social worker advised me to come back another day since I still have a couple of boys to come back for.

6th Visit (Monday, 17 October 05, 4.30 to 5.45 pm)

I was expecting to clear all the remaining names on my list today as advised by the social worker last week. However, while looking for the two children who had gone for a medical appointment last Monday, I was told that they had gone home. Hence, I asked for the boy who had chicken pox last week and conducted the survey with him.

039 He was crying when I approached him. After bringing him to the room, I asked why he was crying. He told me that an older boy had snatched his thing. He agreed to do the survey and stopped sobbing in a short time. By the time the survey was done, he seemed to have got over with the earlier incident and was happy with the token.

I was quite disappointed by the fact that I could not achieve what I had set my mind on. When talking to a social worker, I realised the two children were home due to an emergency. In retrospect, I notice that over a period of a month (since the beginning of the survey till now), I have lost three potential respondents: one was home because of chicken pox and never return perhaps because she is in P6, another's status was converted to after-school care but was never there when I tried to look him up, and the last was discharged with her sister (I managed to survey the sister earlier). Whether the two children are coming back is yet to be known. The occurrences have somehow indicated the custodial right of the family over the institution (It is not gazetted as a place of safety). Children are discharged as and when family are ready to bring them home. Perhaps, this will explain why an educational plan was not put in place.

7th Visit (Monday, 24 October 05, 7.00 to 7.35 pm)

I tried calling the social workers earlier in the afternoon to see if the two kids were there. One was on leave and the other had not come in. The receptionist was not able to tell if the children were there. So, I called again at 5 pm and managed to speak to one of the social workers. I went down to the Home at 6.10. After setting up, I was able to chat with the social worker and realized that the few new names I thought were Malays were actually Indians. I waited till 7 to meet the first child. Their dinner started at 6.30 pm.

040 a very lively boy. On the plump side and it explains why the last time had to go for medical check up. Managed the questions very well and tried to give his own answers.

041 040's sister, born in the same year but different month. She was crying when she walked into the room as another child had pushed her. She looked timid and wanted her brother to stay with her. 040 was very patient. She required more encouragement when she had to answer questions as she often turned to her brother.

229	WILLIE: To me ah?
230	Interviewer: Ya
231	WILLIE: Is teacher.
232	Interviewer: Teacher care the most. But to Benny, is the... director
233	here.
234	BENNY: No,
235	Interviewer: the
236	BENNY: Jieh Jieh Nellie	Sig
237	Interviewer: Jieh Jieh Nellie
238	WILLIE: (soft) Jieh Jieh Nellie, some lah	Sig
239	Interviewer: Is it Jieh Jieh Nellie? Are you
240	BENNY: Some, sometime
241	Interviewer: Okay. If this is your class,
242	BENNY: Yap
243	Interviewer: Who would you be? Can you point to me?
244	BENNY: Oh, ya, man
245	Interviewer: You will be the one in front putting up your hand.
246	BENNY: Maths what, Maths confirm one.	LA

247	[teacher teaching Maths on screen]
248	Interviewer: Ah, okay, and what about Willie?
249	WILLIE: This one over here.	LA
250	Interviewer: Okay, you will be listening from behind.
251	WILLIE: Yap.
252	Interviewer: Now,
253	BENNY: (overlap) Homework [word on the screen]
254	Interviewer: This is the last picture.
255	BENNY: How you know?
256	Interviewer: (laughing)
257	WILLIE: What is this?
258	Interviewer: It's okay. Um, do you need help in your studies?
259	Benny.
260	BENNY: Ur, not really.	Hmw
261	Interviewer: Not really.
262	BENNY: I can do most of them, except for English I will ask for
263	help.
264	Interviewer: You will ask what?
265	BENNY: For help.
266	Interviewer: You will ask who for help?
267	BENNY: See lah, see who know how to do.	Hmw
268	Interviewer: You can always find help?
269	BENNY: Ya
270	Interviewer: What about Willie, do you need help in your
271	homework?
272	WILLIE: Yes, Maths.	Hmw
273	Interviewer: Maths
274	BENNY: Maths ah, Maths I will teach him.	Hmw
275	Interviewer: Okay,
276	BENNY: (overlap) EM3 Maths
277	Interviewer: is there any

278	BENNY: very easy.
279	Interviewer: Oh, Is there anyone who can teach you?
280	WILLIE: Yap, if they are willing to lah, I also willing to learn lah.	Hmw
281	Interviewer: Who, You mean there are some people who are not
282	willing to teach you?
283	WILLIE: No, I mean willing.
284	Interviewer: Willing.
285	WILLIE: Yap.
286	Interviewer: Okay, so usually when you have problems, who would
287	you go to?
288	WILLIE: If I go school, I go talk to teacher, friends.	Hmw
289	Interviewer: What about
290	BENNY: (overlap) Right here
291	Interviewer: here?
292	WILLIE: Here ah? Here ah?	Hmw
293	Interviewer: Um
294	WILLIE: Sometime keep to myself, if I
295	BENNY: Sometime I saw I just tell him answer then he know
296	already.
297	WILLIE: I angry, I bag (?) myself lah, I go school, then I tell lah
298	Interviewer: Um
299	WILLIE: I don't like to tell in here.
300	Interviewer: Okay, all right.
301	BENNY: Like that, blackout, blackout [the screen]
302	Interviewer: Now, last few questions, have you ever thought of what
303	you want to become when you grow up?
304	BENNY: No.
305	Interviewer: Never.
306	BENNY: Never ever.	Asp
307	Interviewer: What about Willie?
308	WILLIE: Um, soccer player.	Asp

309	Interviewer: You want to become a soccer player.
310	WILLIE: Um
311	Interviewer: Do you think by going to school will help you become
312	what you want to become?
313	WILLIE: Yap
314	Interviewer: In what way it can help?
315	WILLIE: Give you knowledge.	Val
316	Interviewer: Um, okay, now, this is
317	BENNY: wait, wait, wait [doing something on the notebook]
318	Interviewer: the end of my question, is there anything you want to
319	add?
320	WILLIE: Add what?
321	Interviewer: Whatever, you know I did not ask, you want to say
322	something about your school, your teacher, your friends?
323	BENNY: Wow, nice, any how [the notebook]
324	Interviewer: (overlap) Anything else.
325	BENNY: press can No.
326	WILLIE: You ask me lah, I		2 nd Interview?
327	BENNY: (overlap) How to close this [refer to the notebook]
328	WILLIE: cannot.own self say one
329	BENNY: Ur, how to
330	Interviewer: (overlap) I've asked
331	BENNY: close this
332	Interviewer: all my questions, I have finished. It's just that if there
333	are other things you want to say, you can say it now.
334	WILLIE: Uh,
335	BENNY: Wait ah, [refer to the notebook]
336	WILLIE: Nothing,
337	Interviewer: Nothing.
338	WILLIE: I don't think so.
339	Interviewer: You don't think so, and Benny.

340	BENNY: Ya.
341	Interviewer: Nothing for you too.
342	BENNY: Nothing.
343	Interviewer: Okay, thank you very much.

Appendix 14

Memos

SCHOOL

SCHP

PEER INFLUENCE

Children in the same group tend to use similar expression.

A P6 girl sought help from her friend for the answer and said what her friend told her to say (Enjoy school).

GENDER

Girls tend to give explanation for their feelings.

Those who found school to be 'boring' and hated studies are all boys. Those who linked school to teachers, friends and learning are girls, except for the boy who described school as kind.

UPPER PRIMARY VS LOWER PRIMARY

UP tends to provide positive answer. [trying to be politically correct?]

LP includes only P2 and P3 children – smaller number.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

20 positive expressions towards school, 6 negative.

2 neutral actually mentioned nothing wrong with school, which isn't strong enough to be positive. Both are girls.

ANOMALIES

1 P5G still prefers her old school.

2 P5 boys, after using fun and nice to describe school, went on to say that it was boring, and 1 even said he didn't like studies.

SCHA

PEER INFLUENCE

Children in the same group giving different answers. [Type of question makes a difference?]

GENDER

No significant difference.

GENERAL OBSERVATION

Academic activities were mentioned 17 times, play 11, non-academic (excluding play) 15.

Periods and places mentioned were all outside the main curriculum.

When referring to non-academic events, children were likely to be talking about the things they like to do in school.

ANOMALIES

A P2 boy complained about his peer's (interview) misbehaviour in class.

A P5 girl mentioned her own misbehaviour in school.

SCHAP

PEER INFLUENCE

Children in the same group giving similar answers.

GENDER

No significant difference.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Children provided an overview of their school: its purpose, programme, provision, and people.

While the purpose (study) was cited 5 times, it could not be compared to the non-academic features.

ANOMALIES

1P5G cited Children's Day and went on to describe how it was planned as told by the teacher—food and game could be expected.

SCHF

PEER INFLUENCE

Children in the same group gave different answers.

GENDER

Comparatively, more girls than boys show a positive attitude towards going to school.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

When reasons were provided, friends were usually the pull factor. 1P4B said they were people whom he could play with, talk to and share his feelings with.

1P5G, however, find some of them irritating.

Homework appeared to be a push factor.

ANOMALIES

1P6G mentioned food as the reason. Her peer mentioned food earlier in her answer.

1P5G remained loyal to her former school she felt that the current school did not match her.

TEACHER

SCHTP

PEER INFLUENCE

If the pairs are from the same class, their answers are likely to be similar.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Children were generally positive about their teachers, especially those who had spared a personal touch in their lives.

A P6 girl mentioned the teacher's awareness of her family problem and arranged for a counselor to help her.

3 girls mentioned teacher's shouting in class but 2 demonstrated understanding.

Too much work can strain children's relationship with their teachers.

ANOMALIES

The girl who was transferred from another school lamented the loss of many favourite teachers.

A P5 boy who hated his teacher but acknowledged that the teacher was kind.

SCHTRL+

GENDER

Half the boys did not give the identity of the teachers they liked.

A P5B named the principal for the teacher he liked. [Boys identify better with people who have control over things?]

2 girls said there were many teachers they liked.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Most children have someone they liked or could identify with.

ANOMALIES

A P3B found it hard talk about the teacher he liked. [Whether he had a favourite teacher is uncertain as he said yes only after some coercion from the interviewer]

The P5G who was transferred named one teacher she liked. She was not her class teacher but was friendly to her. [The same teacher for P2G]

SCHTRS+

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

'Kind' was used by 7 children, 'good' by another 2.

Taking time to show personal attention was important to the individuals.

What a teacher did in class could also draw the students to him/her (Activities named include movie, play, jokes and even moral teachings).

Hence, class activities, teacher's personalities and personal attention are all possible appealing factors for students.

ANOMOLIES

The boy who named the principal as his favourite teacher mentioned 'in charge of school' as one of the qualities of the principal that attracted him.

Being pretty could be an attribute that attracts children, especially girls (P2G, P5G).

SCHTRL-/R-

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

7 Children said there wasn't any teacher they did not like.

For those who had a teacher they did not like, fierce was one of the most cited reasons for not liking the teacher.

People who have the authority to exert punishment, such as the disciplinary master and principal, could also turned these children off.

Mistreatment was responded by anger and willful behavior.

Teachers' attitude towards a friend could also elicit disgust.

ANOMALIES

A P5B did not like his teacher's look. He is the one who said he hated his teacher but s/he is kind, and named his principal as his favourite teacher.

His principal is the one who caned the P3B and the P3B disliked him.

The girl who was transferred from another school started saying she had a 'most hate' teacher then went on to deny it.

SCHTRP

GENDER

Of the 5 responses 4 were boys. [Boys were either more appreciative to their teachers' personal attention or their behaviour required greater attention]

ANOMALIES

The girl whose teacher had arranged for a counselor to help her did not think that the teacher actually paid special attention to her.

CLASSMATES

SCHCP

PEER INFLUENCE

2 P6B said similar things, 2 P5G did not have an answer, 2 P2G focused on someone they do not like, 2 P4G were rather similar. However, a P3G gave exactly the opposite answer to her peer's.

GENDER

All those who made negative comments are girls.
Boys tend to be vague in their response.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

5 girls mentioned problems with classmates, 4 gave accounts of those problems.
Having classmates from the same Home can lead to either better friendship or greater irritation. (P2 & P5G)
2 girls mentioned having classmates who would teach them.

ANOMALIES

1 P4G mentioned friend giving her food and lending her money. [Inadequate provision from the Home?]

SCHCRL+

PEER INFLUENCE

Similar answers were provided.

GENDER

Those who have either mixed feelings or negative impression of classmates are all girls.
Those who mentioned having friends who would share with them money and other things are all boys.

UPPER PRIMARY VS LOWER PRIMARY

Only the P2 and P3 provided names for their best friends.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Reasons for liking their classmates include they played with them and help was provided (a means of support).
Getting monetary help was mentioned again (P5B, P3B). Another P5B stopped at 'lend me' without elaborating what kind of material help. A P6B talked about being treated with drinks.

P4B talked about sharing his money with those who did not have.

A P5G had best friend since nursery days. They went to kindergarten together and were still in the same school. [Someone from the Home?]

A number had best friends from the Home (including a P5B in respond to SCHCA).

Quite a number were vague when asked whether they had best friend in class.

ANOMALIES

A P3G who had not been cooperative said that she did not like her classmates and had no friend in class but her best friends were both at the home.

One of them was the other interviewee.

A P4G talked about classmates who would tell her things that she didn't know but were irritating as they 'beat' her.

SCHCA

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Majority said play, eat (recess), and study.

2 mentioned going back together and a P4G said they slept together but later corrected herself. [Was she referring to friends at the Home?]

P4B said they borrowed money from each other.

P5G said they cheered each other up when another was angry.

ANOMOLIES

P3B played with brother

P6G lamented on last year's group which was dissolved this year.

SCHHP/SCHHSO

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Most of the chn admit that they needed help in doing their homework.

Some contradicted themselves by saying that they do not need help but help was sought sometimes.

The person that they would seek to get help is mainly their trs, then staff, finally school friends.

While volunteers are helping the chn in their studies, only one of them was being mentioned.

These chn are aware that help can be sought from many channels.

Parents was the least mentioned person.

ANOMALIES

P5B does not want to seek help from staff. Looked downcast, he mentioned that he would go to school to talk to trs and frs.

SELF-PERCEPTION

SPTR

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Most of the children thought their teacher like them.

Reasons given include teachers being nice to the class, care about them personally or the fact that they did well in class.

About a quarter was either unsure or has a negative perception of teachers' attitude.

ANOMALIES

The P3B who talked about how he made fun of the teacher did not say whether he thought the teacher liked him.

SPCR

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Most of the children's expressions were similar to their responses to SPTR.

Most were confident of their friends' impression of them, although two mentioned that it was based on guesses.

ANOMALIES

The P6G who was not voted by classmates to run in the race ended her recount by saying that she liked them.

SPPA

GENDER

A couple of girls used a boy in the picture to illustrate how they would behave in class.

3 girls (P2, P4, P6) provided an analysis of each character in the vignette.

Those who have admitted playing during lesson time were boys.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Some told of their actual behaviour in class and others pointed to a figure they aspired to be.

They were aware of the expected behaviour in class.

ANOMALIES

2P2G named their choice after their pop idols.

A P3B picked the enthusiastic one but admitted that he slept and played during lesson because it was boring.

A P6B said he listened when teacher was teaching but picked the boy who was playing because it was nice to be like that boy.

HOMEWORK & SUPPORT

SCHHP/SCHHSO

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Most children admitted that they needed help in doing their homework.

Some contradicted themselves by saying that they did not need help but help was sought sometimes.

The persons that they would go to for help were their teachers, staff and school friends.

While volunteers were available at the Home, only one of them was being mentioned.

These children were aware that help could be sought from many channels.

Parent was the least mentioned person for help.

ANOMALIES

A P5B did not want to seek help from staff and said he would go to school to talk to teachers and friends.

SUP

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Most chn have more than one persons who care about their studies.

The person who showed the most care is a staff at the Home and she is in charge of their educational matters.

School teachers are the next person on the list. They were at least referred to by 14 chn whereas staff by 13, friends by 7

A few mentioned parents (P2G, 2P4B, 3P5G, P6B, 2P6G), God (2P2G, P6G).

A few mentioned many people (2P5G, P3G, P4G)

ANOMALIES

P3G said she did not know but later said teacher cared the most.

P5G mentioned a teacher who is not teaching in the school anymore.

P6G mentioned guardian then later switched to parent.

FUTURE

FA

GENDER

“Teacher” is indicated all by girls.

“Police” is expressed by both girls and boys.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

A preponderance of “teacher” (5) and “police”(7). [Because of their exposure to teachers and policemen?]

A few were inspired by people at the Home: social worker and the Director.

Others stood out as rather unique: clown, bus driver, soccer player, swimming instructor, flower seller and singer/dancer.

Similar ambitions are stated across the different grades (from lower to upper primary).

2 did not know and 2 others came up with something after saying they did not know.

4 had a few on their lists.

FA-SCH

GENDER

Boys seem to be more affirmative about the value of school in achieving their ambition.

ANOMALIES

P2G linked the value of school to earning a living.

FA-SCH-SP

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

The majority were aware of the importance of school (especially the older ones) as it would provide the necessary knowledge and skills.

It was linked with education, getting a certificate and helping others.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

ADD

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Children were open about their misbehaviours in school and the older ones showed awareness of their need for change.

Religious education had encouraged some of the children to seek God as they cope with their own problems.

In his recount, the P4B was a bully and had been a victim of bullies.

ANOMALIES

A P3G who had not been cooperating during the interview asked to be interviewed again.

A P6G though had been transferred for 5 years to the current school still thought her former school was better.

P4B Jareth SGSS	14 very kind./		23 My form teacher and my school teachers./31 I like to go to school.Because I have many friends to play with me, I can talk to them, I can share my feelings.		204 By study hard, pay attention, obey my teacher./215 Ask permission, ur, be kind and be generous to people.
P4G+2 Mary XHPS	14 my school (pause) my school is very nice/48 Um, um, play also			25 The teacher can teach us a lot of things	399 You can study, so that, you, like, how to say ah, you can, when you grow up right, want to be teacher right, you can take, you can use all your learning from school ah, to teach other people.
P4G Terry SGSS	38 Same lah/46 play.
P5B Benny SGSS	4 Fun Nice./23 play, PE, recess time./26 Play soccer/33 Yes [like going to school]	8 I, I, I feel a bit boring lah, don't I don't like studies.
P5B Willie SGSS	29 Playing, eating and study lah.	8 Um.. quite boring./35 Not so. [like going to school]			315 Give you knowledge
P5G Jazreel SGSS	44 PE and recess.
P5G Jenny MFPS	66 My school ah, I don't know/75 Best about school. Music and computer. Still got one more, art/79 [like going to school?] A bit		81 Some of them very irritating one, they always irritate me

P5G Jacinta SGSS	13 Children's Day because my teacher promise us that when Children's Day he will ur ur call us to buy some food or call our parents to make. make the food, ya, then we have party, then teacher say she will, he will call someone to sit on the chair, he will put water downstairs, then if we all throw the ball inside the thing right, then the person must drop into the water, the person will sit on the chair		5 I like my teacher./7 Um, I like to play with my friends in school.		210 Maybe./216 Because if I never study hard, nobody also can help me, ah.
P6B Steve APS	21 Exciting/25 PE (-physical education)/27 Play ah.				287 Study hard/290 Listen to teacher.
P6B Alan SGSS	5 Don't know./12 Play.				289 Education.
P6G Angel DQPS	17 Enjoy school/87 Food. nice.			60 Study. The food at the canteen

P6G+1 Serena CHIJ	62 I enjoy the school canteen/64 The food at the canteen/71 Then I enjoy the computer lesson in school... then... like sometimes in school right, they have those learning journey, like excursion, like just recently I went to China town, India and to the Singapore River for a boat ride. So, I enjoy things like that.	77 Ya, I like going to school, but sometimes like I feel a bit tired you know every time going to school and then so restless and sometimes, especially homework, I get a lot of homework, so, but I like school a lot because of my friends and everything. But things to do with homework, then I not really like school.	32 Then like, in school I have a lot of friends, I'm not feeling bored. Then, I learn to communicate with people well. Um, then like, if there is any problem in school, my teacher will help, or she will get someone to talk to me and try and help me sort things out, then, ah I just enjoy school lah./66 and my friends, like, everyday I'm going to school and I'm seeing them, then sometime I am very happy, because like when it's our birthday, our friends give us something, or they make a card or give us a/71 present.	25 I find school a very place, okay, um, a place where I can learn a lot of things, then, I find it quite interesting, the lesson that are taught, like Maths, you know I like, because I used to hate Maths, and then like, now after my teacher teaching more like so I get to like Maths a lot,	498 Because like..pretend you want to be a lawyer, then it's like you have to learn how to speak well, your English must be like fluent, must speak proper English, must not speak like those Ah Lian you know./504 Ya, you must not speak vulgar words, you must know the law. In school, social studies they will teach you law, okay, like Geography like that, they will teach you about the law, okay, you must know like what punishment..if you want to become a counselor or what, is good to go school, because..it teaches, the way the teacher shows love to you right, you can show love to others./512 So I find school is quite good, because they, because whatever they teach right, it, like, it can help us, when we grew up you know, in our ambition.
