Appendix IV

MAPS - PARISH BOUNDARIES

The following maps are based on those published by the Institute of Heraldic and Genealogical Studies and the New Statistical Account of Scotland, Edinburgh, 1845, vols I-IV.

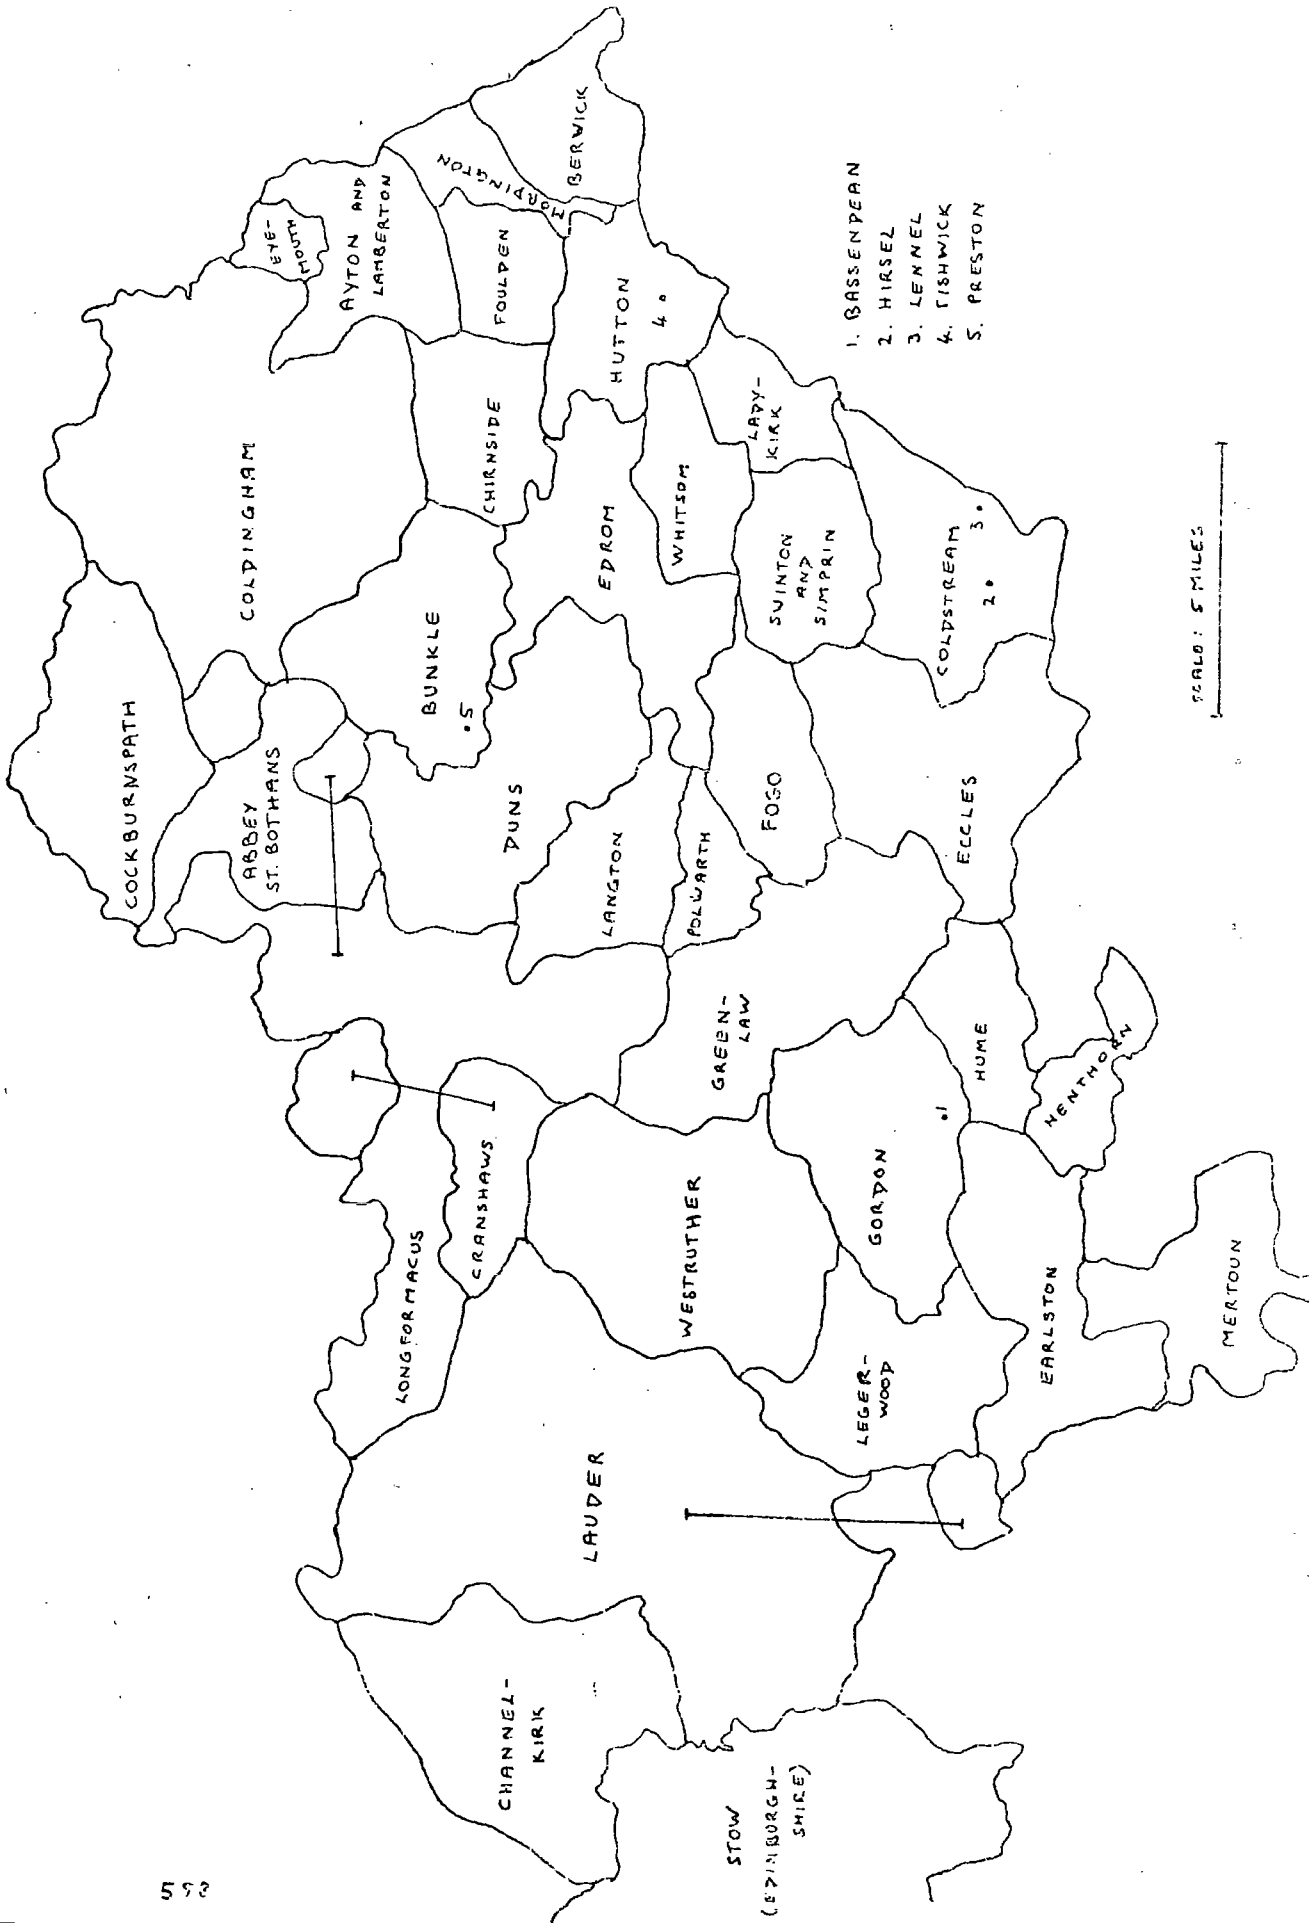

No map showing parish boundaries is available for Selkirkshire. Many changes in Scottish parish boundaries have made identification of all the ancient parishes difficult, but the site of pre-reformation parish churches is indicated wherever possible. Large parishes, now subdivided, are shown in their earlier form. Chapels of ease have not generally been marked, but may be traced under the mother church in App. I.

NORTHUMBERLAND PARISHES
